

Covid-19 (Coronavirus) and the 2020 Anfield 100 Message from Cycling Time Trials, 17 March 2020

‘In light of the government advice now given, Cycling Time Trials (CTT) has taken the decision to suspend all CTT events, (this includes all Type A and Type B events), with immediate effect up to and including Sunday 31 May 2020.

‘The decision will be subject to continued review and has been taken in the interests of organisers, competitors, all those who volunteer their time to make the events “work”, supporters and in the interests of the time trialling community as a whole.

‘Where possible, all are encouraged to maintain their own personal fitness and keep active during this time, while following government guidelines about safe distance and safe exercise environments.

‘CTT will continue to review and monitor government advice and will provide detailed updates in the coming weeks.’

The Anfield Bicycle Club regret to inform competitors, volunteers, and spectators that this year’s 100 has therefore been cancelled.

On the way to the Northern Old-time Cyclists' Meet at Daresbury last Sunday: a group of Anfielders sheltering from the rain. The riders are E. Edwards, R. L. Knipe, P. Routledge, W. R. Toft and D. R. Fell.

B7

When racing was suspended in WW1 - rainy day Anfielders doing their bit on the Home Front, as pictured in Cycling August 1916